

Driver diagram template

Primary drivers are system components which will contribute to moving the primary outcome

Secondary drivers are elements of the associated primary driver. They can be used to create projects or change packages that will affect the primary driver.